

ABSTRACT

A vinyl polymer which has at least one terminal functional group per molecule and has a ratio of weight average molecular weight to number average molecular weight of less than 1.8 as determined by gel permeation chromatography, said terminal functional group being a crosslinking silyl group, an alkenyl group, or a hydroxyl group.

Curable compositions containing this vinyl polymer is easy to handle.